DECISION

1. I considered the application in terms of Rule 8 of the Procedural Rules. That Rule provides:-

"Rejection of application

8.—(1) The Chamber President or another member of the First-tier Tribunal under the delegated powers of the Chamber President, must reject an application if –

- (a) they consider that the application is frivolous or vexatious;*
- (b) the dispute to which the application relates has been resolved;*
- (c) they have good reason to believe that it would not be appropriate to accept the application;*
- (d) they consider that the application is being made for a purpose other than a purpose specified in the application; or*
- (e) the applicant has previously made an identical or substantially similar application and in the opinion of the Chamber President or another member of the First-tier Tribunal, under the delegated powers of the Chamber President, there has been no significant change in any material considerations since the identical or substantially similar application was determined.*

(2) Where the Chamber President, or another member of the First-tier Tribunal, under the delegated powers of the Chamber President, makes a decision under paragraph (1) to reject an application the First-tier Tribunal must notify the applicant and the notification must state the reason for the decision."

2. After consideration of the application, the attachments and correspondence from the applicant, I consider that the application should be rejected on the basis that it appears to be frivolous within the meaning of Rule 8(1)(a) of the Procedural Rules, and I have good reason to believe that it would not be appropriate to accept the application within the meaning of Rule 8(1)(c) of the Procedural Rules.

REASONS FOR DECISION

3. 'Frivolous' in the context of legal proceedings is defined by Lord Justice Bingham in R v North West Suffolk (Mildenhall) Magistrates Court, (1998) Env. L.R. 9. At page 16, he states:- "What the expression means in this context is, in my view, that the court considers the application to be futile, misconceived, hopeless or academic". It is that definition which I have to consider in this application in order to determine whether or not this application is frivolous, misconceived, and has no prospect of success.
4. Section 33 of the Housing (Scotland) Act 1988 provides a basis for recovery of possession of properties let on Short Assured Tenancies. In terms of subsection (1), the Tribunal must be satisfied of three things:- (i) that the short assured tenancy has reached its ish (that is to say, its natural expiry); (ii) that tacit relocation is not operating; and (iii) that the landlord has given notice to the tenant stating that he requires possession of the property.
5. In this case, the tenancy agreement commenced on 24 September 2016 and had an initial term of six months, ending on 24 March 2017. Thereafter, in terms of the tenancy agreement, it continued for consecutive periods of six months by tacit relocation.
6. The purpose of a notice to quit is to stop tacit relocation from operating. It cannot bring a tenancy to an end at a date arbitrarily selected. To be effective, the end date specified in a notice to quit must coincide with the ish date. In this case, there are only ever two ish dates in any give year: the twenty-fourth day of March or the twenty-fourth day of September. To be effective, the notice to quit in this case would have had to specify one of those dates and provide the required period of notice, which in terms of clause FIFTH of the tenancy agreement was two months.

7. In fact, the notice to quit specified that the contractual tenancy would end on 24 April 2019. 24 April 2019 was not an ish date, for the reasons previously stated. As such, it is my view that the notice to quit given to the respondent in this case is invalid. That being so, the contractual tenancy has continued by tacit relocation. It follows that the requirements of section 33 of the Housing (Scotland) Act 1988 have not been met.

8. Accordingly, for this reason, this application must be rejected upon the basis that it is frivolous within the meaning of Rule 8(1)(a) of the Procedural Rules and, separately, that I have good reason to believe that it would not be appropriate to accept the application within the meaning of Rule 8(1)(c) of the Procedural Rules.
