Decision

The First-tier Tribunal for Scotland (Housing and Property Chamber) ("the Tribunal") having made such enquiries as it saw fit for the purposes of determining whether the Landlord has complied with the Repairing Standard Enforcement Order ("RSEO") relative to the property dated 27 March 2018 determined that the Landlord has complied with the Order and that a Certificate of Completion to that effect should be issued.

The Tribunal comprised: -

Mrs Josephine Bonnar, Legal Member

Mr Nick Allan, Ordinary Member

Background

1. By application received on 27 December 2017 the Tenant applied to the First-tier Tribunal for Scotland (Housing and Property Chamber) for a determination of whether the Landlord had failed to comply with the duties imposed by Section 14(1)(b) of the Housing (Scotland) Act 2006 ("the Act").
2. The Application stated that the Tenant considered that the Landlord had failed to comply with his duty to ensure that the house meets the repairing standard. The Tenant stated that the Landlord had failed to ensure that (i) The house is wind and watertight and in all other respects reasonably fit for human habitation, (ii) Any fixtures, fittings and appliances supplied by the Landlord under the tenancy are in a reasonable state of repair and in proper working order, and (iii) Any furnishings provided by the Landlord under the tenancy are capable of being used safely for the purpose for which they are designed. Specifically, the Tenant stated that when he moved into the property the bedroom was bare, smelly and dirty, that he had no useable bed or mattress, that the table, wardrobe and curtains in the bedroom require to be replaced, that there is a cracked window pane in the kitchen, that the microwave needed to be replaced, that there is an exposed nail in the wardrobe in the second bedroom, a broken window blind in the bathroom, damaged hallway carpet and chairs, damaged dining room table and chairs, that the windows in the property required to be serviced and that the bedroom window in particular is defective and that he has not been provided with an electrical safety certificate.
3. The First-tier Tribunal for Scotland served Notice of Referral under and in terms of Schedule 2, Paragraph 1 of the Act upon both the Landlord and the Tenant on 16 February 2017. The parties were notified that an inspection and hearing would take place on 13 March 2018.
4. The Tribunal inspected the property on the morning of 13 March 2018. The Tenant was present. The letting agent, Paula Neeson of Countrywide Lettings attended on behalf of the Landlord. Following the inspection of the property the Tribunal held a hearing at Teacher's Building, 14 St Enoch Square, Glasgow. The Tenant and the letting agent, Paula Neeson attended and gave evidence. Ms Neeson advised that the Landlord was unable to attend.
5. Following the inspection and hearing the Tribunal proceeded to issue a decision and a RSEO. In terms of the RSEO the Landlord is required: - (i) To instruct a suitably qualified window contractor to repair the windows throughout the property to ensure that they exclude draughts, are in a reasonable state of repair and proper working order, or to replace the windows, (ii) To repair and re-instate the study table and set of drawers in the main bedroom or replace them with a new study table and set of drawers, (iii) To replace the microwave in the kitchen with a new microwave. (iv) To repair the blind in the bathroom so that it is in full working order, or replace it with a new blind, and (v) To repair the dining table and chairs in the living room or replace them with a new dining table and chairs. The RSEO stipulated that the work was to be completed within six weeks of service of the RSEO on the Landlord.

6. On the 2 May 2018 the Landlord submitted a request for an extension of time to complete the work. He advised that he was arranging for the work to be carried out but that complications had arisen. He had established that the windows would probably have to be replaced but, as the building is listed, the replacement windows would have to comply with restrictions imposed by the local authority and might require planning consent. He further advised that the replacement windows would not be completed by the deadline stipulated in the RSEO. On 8 May 2018 the Landlord confirmed that the property is currently unoccupied, the Tenant having vacated on 1 April 2018. On 30 May 2018 the Landlord asked for the re-inspection of the property arranged for 5 June 2018 to be postponed and asked for the RSEO be varied to allow a further 8 weeks for completion of the work.
7. On 18 June 2018 the Tribunal varied the RSEO by extending the time for completion of the work until 30 July 2018.
8. On 3 August 2018 the Ordinary Member re-inspected the property. The Landlord was present. The Ordinary member noted that the windows in the kitchen and living room have been replaced and the windows in the bedrooms and bathroom repaired. It was established that all are in proper working order. The Ordinary Member also noted that the property has been provided with a new microwave, replacement dining table and chairs, and a study table, chair and set of drawers. A bathroom blind was present, although not installed. A report on the re-inspection was issued to the Landlord.
9. On 2 September 2018 the Landlord sent to the Tribunal photographs of the blind installed at the bathroom window. He confirmed that the blind had been installed after the window had been repainted following repair.

Reason for decision

10. The Tribunal considered whether the work stipulated in the RSEO has been satisfactorily completed.

11. The Tribunal noted the condition of the property at re-inspection and the terms of the email and photographs submitted by the Landlord following receipt of the re-inspection report. The Tribunal concluded that the work required in terms of the RSEO has now been completed and that a certificate of completion to that effect should be issued.

Decision

12. The Tribunal determined that the Landlord has complied with the RSEO and proceeded to issue a certificate of completion.

Right of Appeal.

A Landlord, Tenant or Third-party applicant aggrieved by the decision of the Tribunal may appeal to the Upper Tribunal for Scotland on a point of law only. Before an appeal can be made to the Upper Tribunal, the party must first seek permission to appeal from the First-tier Tribunal. That party must seek permission to appeal within 30 days of the date the decision was sent to them.

In terms of Section 63 of the Act, where such an appeal is made, the effect of the decision and of any order is suspended until the appeal is abandoned or finally determined by the Upper Tribunal, and where the appeal is abandoned or finally determined by upholding the decision, the decision and any order will be treated as having effect from the day on which the appeal is abandoned or so determined.
