Whereas in terms of their decision dated 23rd August 2023, the First-tier Tribunal for Scotland (Housing and Property Chamber) ('the Tribunal') determined that the Landlord has failed to comply with the duty imposed by Section 14 (1)(b) of the Housing (Scotland) Act 2006 ("The Act") and in particular that the Landlord has failed to ensure compliance with the following paragraphs of section 13(1) of the Act:

13(1) a. The house is wind and watertight and in all other respects reasonably fit for human habitation;

the Tribunal now requires the Landlord to carry out such works as are necessary for the purposes of ensuring that the House concerned meets the repairing standard and that any damage caused by the carrying out of any work in terms of this Order is made good.

In particular the Tribunal requires the landlord to: -

1. Instruct a suitably qualified specialist to
 - a. prepare a report on the condition of the roof and guttering of the Property (along with associated timber work and the sleeve of the soil pipe as it exits the roof) detailing the cause and full extent of any previous water ingress /damp staining at the Property and
 - b. prepare a proposed specification of works outlining any necessary works required to ensure that the Property is wind and watertight and that the structure and exterior of the house (including drains gutters and external pipes) are in a reasonable state of repair.
2. Submit the report and specification required at Paragraph 1 of this RSEO to the Tribunal for further consideration and, thereafter, carry out all works which are then further determined by the Tribunal as are necessary to ensure that the property meets the Repairing Standard.
3. Carry out such works as may be necessary so that all the windows in the Property are in a reasonable state of repair and in proper working order.
4. Carry out such works as may be necessary so that all the back door of the Property is in a reasonable state of repair and in proper working order.

7. Repair the plasterwork above, at the ceiling above the stair, at the Property so that it is in a reasonable state of repair.
8. Instruct a SELECT, NICEIC or NAPIT registered electrician to carry out a full inspection of the electrical wiring, installations and apparatus throughout the Property and to repair or renew any parts which are identified in said report to be of Category C1 or C2 to ensure the installation and apparatus is fully functioning and meets current regulatory standards and provide a new EICR to the Tribunal confirming that the installations, apparatus and wiring meet current regulatory standards,

The Tribunal order that the works specified in this Order must be carried out and completed within the period two months from the date of service of this Notice.

A landlord, tenant or third party applicant aggrieved by the decision of the Tribunal may appeal to the Upper Tribunal for Scotland on a point of law only. Before an appeal can be made to the Upper Tribunal, the party must first seek permission to appeal from the First-tier Tribunal. That party must seek permission to appeal within 30 days of the date the decision was sent to them.

In terms of Section 63 of the Act, where such an appeal is made, the effect of the decision and of any order is suspended until the appeal is abandoned or finally determined by the Upper Tribunal, and where the appeal is abandoned or finally determined by upholding the decision, the decision and any order will be treated as having effect from the day on which the appeal is abandoned or so determined.

Please note that in terms of section 28(1) of the Act, a landlord who, without reasonable excuse, fails to comply with a RSEO commits an offence liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding level 3 on the standard scale. A landlord (and that includes any landlord's successor in title) also commits an offence if he or she enters into a tenancy or occupancy arrangement in relation to a house at any time during which a RSEO has effect in relation to the house. This is in terms of Section 28(5) of the Act.
